

Just because...

Just because I am quiet,
you think I am stuck-up.
Ask yourself,
what do you really know about me,
although we never spoke to each other.

Just because I am quiet,
you think I am not interested in other people.
Don't you look
who you want to make friends with beforehand?

Just because I am quiet,
I can't express my opinion?
But there are enough,
who carelessly talk too quickly,
before thinking to the end.

Just because I am quiet,
you think I don't understand fun.
Thinking depressive thoughts silences me.

Just because I am quiet...

Throw away your prejudices finally,
than we can enjoy life in peace.
